

Dietary norms and the underlying spiritual science

Preface

For individuals to lead a healthy and happy life, our scriptures have recommended certain dietary norms; however, over the past 100 years or so, we have forgotten the importance of our scriptures and hence, ignored these norms. In fact, we have forgotten several major and minor dietary norms such as not eating unless hungry, not eating at times other than the stipulated meal times, not eating leftovers, making seasonal changes in diet, not eating food given by those who have earned it by unrighteous means etc. Some of these norms and their underlying science have been elaborated in this Holy text. Even if we follow these norms strictly, there will be no need to go to a doctor for reasons of health.

We pray unto the Holy feet of Shrī Guru that may everyone understand the disadvantages of the modern diet and begin consuming food items prepared by the Bharatiya (Indian) method and may they have a good physical, mental and spiritual health !

- Compilers

Index

(An asterisk [*] sign has been placed alongside important points)

1. Food : Origin and Definition	18
2. Āhār (Diet)	19
2A. Definition	19
2B. Diet of the jīvātmā (Embodied soul doing spiritual practice)	20
* When a jīva (Embodied soul)) is content on being nourished by Chaitanya, it does not feel any need for worldly contentment	20
3. Importance of diet	20
* Overall importance of food	20
* Food is of utmost importance for the gross body	21
* Food provides the energy required for all essential life-sustaining activities	21
* Importance of food and diet in Hindu culture	22
* Reason why scriptures have accorded the status of Yadnya (Sacrificial fire) to consumption of food, and an understanding of 'Agni'(Fire) and 'Vanhi'	25
* Food provides absolute nourishment to the body; hence, it is termed ' Pūrnabrahman '	26
* Why in Hindu sanskruti act of eating food is called as Yadnya-karma ?	28
* When food is consumed with the conviction that it is Prasād (Holy sacrament) of God, it provides nutrition to the body and satisfaction	29

* Even if there is scarcity of food in the house, always honour the guest by serving him a portion of the cooked food	29
4. Dietary norms	32
4A. The reasons for formulation of dietary norms	32
4B. Importance of strictly following the dietary norms as prescribed by the Dharmashāstra	32
* A truly balanced diet in the modern scientific Era	32
4C. Spiritual benefits obtained by man upon following the dietary norms prescribed by Hindu Dharma	34
4D. Some rules regarding diet	36
* Common rules	36
* Rules of diet as per the season	39
* Why should consumption of curds at night be avoided ?	43
4E. Which food items should be avoided ?	44
* Atonements for eating food that is prohibited	48
* Harm caused due to intake of leftovers of others	51
* Consumption of food produced with someone else's labour should be avoided	53
* Day and time when food from others house is eaten and period for which merit is expended as a result	54
* Why food earned by an individual by behaving in an unrighteous manner is called Impure food	54
* Effect of eating impure food	55
4F. Sin incurred upon eating unacceptable food	57
4G. Remedies and atonement for nullifying the sin incurred by eating prohibited food	60
4H. An individual who eats food only after it has been offered first to Goddess Bhagawatī, never incurs the sin of eating prohibited food. He does not have any fear of poverty as well	61
5. How much should be the diet ?	62
5A. What is meant by Mitāhār	62
5B. Diet should be only enough to keep alive !	63
6. Upavās (Fasting)	63
6A. Conclusions drawn by researchers on fasting	63
7. Rules regarding diet should be followed for how many days ?	65
7A. In case of evolved seekers and Saints, not much importance is given to dietary rules	65